

AVIATION CENTER
& BOEING TOUR

Special Tour Operator Program at Future of Flight Aviation Center & Boeing Tour

The Boeing Tour has long been one of the Pacific Northwest's most popular excursions, and soon it will become even better! Beginning in November 2005, your groups will begin the Boeing Tour with a visit to the new Future of Flight Aviation Center at the Snohomish County Airport at Paine Field in Everett.

At the Future of Flight Aviation Center, your tour groups explore a unique interpretive facility designed to let them experience the marvel of commercial jet aviation and production. Interactive exhibits allow visitors to design their own airplanes from start to finish. They can fly the XJ5 Flight Simulator and sit in a real cockpit. Strategically located information kiosks help visitors understand the fascinating influence that air travel will have on our lives throughout the 21st century.

Your tour groups then view a special, pre-tour video for an overview of the past, present and future of The Boeing Company. Next, they depart on a fascinating, hour-long tour of the Boeing commercial jet assembly plant, producing 777s and soon the new 787s. Here they witness how these modern marvels of flight are transformed from parts from around the globe into some of the most famous airplanes in the world.

The combined Future of Flight Aviation Center & Boeing Tour will be open 7-days-a-week, year-round except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day. The Future of Flight Aviation Center also offers a café, The Boeing Store and a gift shop (including duty free and currency exchange counter). Consider an overnight for your tour group at the new, adjacent, 102-room Hilton Garden Inn.
